

Cookies Policy

What Are Cookies?

Cookies are small text files that are stored on your device when you visit a website. They help websites remember your actions and preferences (such as login details, language settings, and other display preferences) over a period of time, so you don't have to re-enter them whenever you come back to the site or browse from one page to another. Created on September 23, 2024. Last modified on September 23, 2024.

Types of Cookies We Use

First-Party Cookies

These are cookies set directly by our website to enhance user experience. They help remember your preferences and allow us to provide you with a smooth, personalized experience on our site.

Third-Party Cookies

Our website uses cookies set by third-party services such as:

- Google Analytics: Used to analyze website traffic and understand user behavior to improve our website's performance.
- Facebook Pixel: Allows us to measure the effectiveness of our advertising by understanding the actions people take on our website.

Purpose of Using Cookies

We use cookies to:

- Collect information to target our marketing efforts more effectively and ensure that we reach the right audience.
- Study how users interact with our website to improve functionality and user experience.

Managing Cookies

You can manage or delete cookies as you wish. Most browsers allow you to:

- Block cookies by default or prevent specific sites from setting cookies.
- Delete cookies that have already been stored on your device.

Please note, blocking or deleting cookies may affect the functionality of our website. You may have to manually adjust some preferences each time you visit our site, and some services and features may not work properly.

Cookie Consent

When you visit our website for the first time, a banner will appear requesting your consent to use cookies. By accepting, you agree to our use of cookies as described in this policy. If you do not agree, you can opt out by configuring your browser settings to block cookies.
